

INFINITER #100 Red Laser Pointer

INFINITER'S most energy-saving red laser pointer uses inexpensive AAA batteries that provide 40 hours of continuous run time. It can generate a laser beam with ultra-bright light points up to a transmission distance of 500 meters. Simple to operate with a slender profile, which easily fits into a pocket or purse, the INFINITER 100 is the perfect product for business or classroom presentations. It is also a fun and useful product for those interested in astronomy. When not using it for work related jobs it is an entertaining and safe toy that will keep your cats or dogs busy for hours. Even though this is our most inexpensive laser pointer it is still built with the same rugged materials as some of our more sophisticated products. It is also subject to Quarton's strict Q.C. standards and will provide you with many years of satisfying use.
